

Electronics Line 3000 Signs Strategic Contract For Supplying Wireless Security Solutions To G4S Plc Security Services in Northern and Western Europe Region

Petah Tikvah (Israel) – January 15, 2010 – Electronics Line 3000 (XETRA: ELN) has signed a major contract with G4S Plc. ("G4S"), a leading European security provider, for the supply of wireless electronic security solutions in Northern and Western Europe, starting 2010.

This strategic agreement follows Electronics Line 3000's win in an international "Request for Proposal", G4S conducted for the supply of residential security solutions in Northern and Western Europe. The cooperation is set to strengthen Electronics Line 3000's position as a major player in the European market.

Electronics Line 3000 has an established partnership with G4S in several countries and this agreement will now position Electronics Line 3000's as G4S's major supplier in additional major European countries. The agreement enables the supply of Electronics Line 3000's range of wireless security product lines, including the Company's flagship solution, iConnect, its proven solution infinite Prime, and near future product lines.

Nick G. Schild, Regional Procurement Director for G4S Plc Northern & Western Region comments: "We were impressed by Electronics Line 3000's solutions and senior management which successfully addressed our needs and expectations as a security provider, as well as our customers' needs. Electronics Line 3000's impressive range of wireless security solutions and advanced remote management tools, as well as our successful long standing partnership, were all key in broadening our fruitful relationship with Electronics Line 3000. As a global leader in innovative security solutions, G4S is keen to develop supplier partnerships across all its businesses that will drive growth and market share through an offering that combines the latest in technology with superior customer service and affordable price levels".

Mr. Amir Hayek, President and CEO of Electronics Line 3000, adds: "Signing this contract strengthens our long standing strategic relationship with G4S. We are proud we met the high-end demands set by G4S and value this great vote of confidence in our advanced solutions and services. We look forward to expanding our fruitful relationship with G4S, and to ensuring that its European customers benefit from our advanced wireless solutions".
